

HOMOGRAPHY OF THE TERRITORY COUNCIL.

LEWISTON, December 9th, 1864.
EDITOR WORLD: In a former communication I wrote you some facts in relation to the members of the Lower House of the Legislature, from which you could obtain a homographic chart. I now send you a similar account of the members of the Council, from which you will see that, of the three members holding over, two are Democrats. The Council did itself considerable credit in deciding the contested election case on its merits; that is, provided there was no other motive than to do justice—which I am not yet prepared to give them.

HON. S. B. DILLON,
Representing Alturas and Oneida counties in the Council, is a native of Ohio; aged 31; merchant by profession; single; been in the Territory two years—on this coast two years; Douglas Democrat. He is one of the most active members of that branch of the Legislature. He is an accomplished presiding officer, and is often called to the Chair when in Committee of the Whole. He is a very estimable gentleman, and an able representative. Term expires in 1866.

HON. JOHN CUMMINS,
President of the Council, and representing Owyhee county, is the youngest man in either House. Native of Indiana; 26 years of age; unmarried; attorney; in the Territory one year, and on this coast eleven years; Union. Cummins has served one term in the Oregon Legislature. Has experience enough, if he had force of character and firmness to rise above petty party influences on matters of a general nature even, to make a good representative. He is very attentive to his duties, but I think allows himself to be controlled by

DOCTOR EPHRAIM SMITH,
One of the mis-representatives in the Council from Boise county. The said Doctor E. Smith opposes everything that looks to the interest of any one, unless he is abolitionist, no difference of what importance it may be to the people at large. Narrow minded, egotistic himself, he traduces, by turns, both friends and foes, as he may be behind their backs. Thank God, he is about played out; as this session is the last he will get. He (Smith) is a native of Pennsylvania, aged 43; physician by profession; is married; has been in this Territory three years and on the coast fifteen. Smith's term expires 1865—Cummins' 1866.

HON. JOSEPH MILLER,
Of Boise county, is a little more liberal, but he could not bring himself up sufficiently to vote for the Funding bill for Boise county. He is devoting considerable labor on the Code, as one of the Joint Code Committee. His trace, politically, is about run, and I don't think the Boise county people will regret it. He is the leader of his side of the house in all debates. Miller's term expires 1865.

HON. E. B. WATERBURY,
Of Foz Perce, is a whole-souled, good natured individual—very tenacious about anything that relates to the interests of his section of the Territory. He is a native of Connecticut—aged 39; auctioneer; unmarried; three years in the Territory and same on the coast; Democrat, politically. Term expires 1865.

HON. S. S. FENN,
Is the oldest member in the Council—like Mr. Waterbury, is an easy, good natured soul; is considerable of a wit withal. He takes a leading part in all the debates on his side of the house, and is an able debater and energetic Democrat, and a good legislator. He is a native of Connecticut—aged 44; miner; is single; been in the Territory two years and on the coast 14 years; represents Idaho county—term expires 1866.

HON. STANFORD CARP,
Is a young man, considerable of a rustler very conservative, but, like all the other members on this side of the Territory, is very sensitive in regard to the interests of this section. He is a native of Missouri, aged 39. Is a miner by profession; is unmarried; has been in the Territory four years, and on the coast seventeen. His term expires in 1865. He was elected on the Union ticket by Shoshone county, that only polled 120 votes at the last election. Shoshone county, under the present apportionment, with its 120 votes, has one half the present representation in the Council that Boise county has. On that basis Boise county would be entitled to sixty Councilmen.

This completes the description of the Council members. Nearly all of them hail from the active pursuits of life, only four professional men appearing in the list; and one of them, at least, a merely a pretender—the aforesaid Ephraim.

The Legislature, as it now stands, is composed of twenty members on joint ballot, eleven Democrats and nine Republicans. It is the first body of that political complexion, I believe, that has met in any State or Territory for some years.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE.

There was quite sharp fight in the Council on the Memorial to Congress to divide the Territory, but it was finally defeated; also on the Capital bill, in the same body, which passed. On the passage of this bill, all the members from the northern portion of the Territory presented their protest, and it was spread upon the journals. It was afterward presented in the House, and on motion of Mr. Pierce, they were allowed to spread it upon the journal of that body. The Lewistonians feel very blue over it generally, and would favor Idaho City next year as against Boise City. In fact the entire delegation from this side of the Territory, in both Houses, voted for Mr. Pierce's proposition, as reported by the Committee, to leave the question to a vote of the people at the next general election; but it was defeated by a majority of one in each House.

The only bill of importance yet passed by both Houses, is the Specific Contract Law, the Capital bill, a Common School Law, and a bill for the Protection of Settlers on the Public Lands. The House has passed about twenty-five House bills, and about ten Council bills; and the Council about ten Council bills, and two House bills. The Council neglect everything emanating from the Assembly, unless it is a pet measure of some of the members, or their friends, that they get some member to introduce. Whether the Governor signs the Specific Contract Act, or not, it can be passed over his veto by a two-thirds vote. I will send you a certified copy as soon as it can be obtained.

[A copy of the bill, as approved by the Governor, appears in another column.—Ed.]
A LOOPER ON.

The President's Message.

The annual message of the President was delivered at the opening of Congress on the first Monday of December. It is one of Mr. Lincoln's own documents. Evidently he employed no Seward to write it for him—His papers are remarkable documents, and years hence will be looked upon with wondering awe, and many secret thanksgivings by readers that they did not happen to live in an age so dark and barbarous.

A large portion of the document is devoted to foreign relations. It is remarkable, however, that little or nothing is said of any of the leading powers of Europe, but instead we are supplied with the minutest details of our relations with Liberia, Costa Rica, San Salvador, Egypt, Hayti, and many other noted and influential nations of the same size. We are informed that the sympathies of these powers, and including Hayti—are with the United States and "constantly expressed." The African Republic, Liberia, we are told "gives us a pleasing view." The proposed overland telegraph between America and Europe, via Behring Straits has been undertaken by some Americans, and the idea of an oceanic telegraph across the Atlantic is renewed. The Brazilian difficulty is covered up by a few words about "constant vigilance and just spirit."

The President thinks foreigners make good soldiers, and are very convenient to have around when the New Englanders shirk. He says:

I regard our emigrants as one of the principal replenishing streams which are appointed by Providence to repair the ravages of internal war and its wastes of national strength and health. All that is necessary is to secure the flow of that stream in its present fullness, and to that end the Government must in every way, make it manifest that it neither needs nor designs to impose involuntary military service upon those who come from other lands to cast their lots in our country.

A brief statement of the finances is given, based upon the report of the Secretary of the Treasury six months ago. The public debt he thinks very substantial "property." He says:

The public debt on the first day of July last, as appears by the books of the treasury, amount to $174,969,048.949. Probably should the war continue for another year, that amount may be increased by not far from $500,000,000. Held as it is for the most part by our own people, it has become a substantial branch of national though private property.

The philosophy of the foregoing is summed up in one of those immortal maxims which already rival Socrates and Ben Franklin:

"Men readily perceive that they cannot be much oppressed by a debt which they owe themselves."

The present number of army invalids now on the pension list 22,767; 22,198 widows, orphans and mothers have been placed on the army rolls. Four hundred and fifty millions were paid during the year ending in June, for pensions.

Of the war, he congratulates the public that the "armies have steadily advanced liberating (?) the States in the rear so that Kentucky, Missouri, and other States have produced good crops."

He rejoices that "important movements have also occurred during the year to the effect of moulding society for durability in the Union." What the agency for the moulding is, does not appear.

He recommends the general abolition of slavery wherever it can be reached—and also increased taxation. He says he finds relief from his melancholy, in the fact, that a majority of the men who entered the army are still alive.

The election is declared an evidence of the purpose of the people to maintain the Union, and apparently forgetting that the right of the people to an election does not come from him, says that in "awarding the people a fair opportunity" of showing their determination "in has been of great value to the national cause."

He is of the opinion that "no attempt at negotiation with the insurgent leader would result in any good."

Speaking of the amnesty offered a year ago to those as would accept it, he threatens: "The door has, for a full year, been open to all such as were not in a condition to make a free choice; that is, such as were in custody or under constraint. It is still open to all, but the time may come, and will come, when the public duty shall demand that it be closed, and that in lieu, more vigorous measures than heretofore shall be adopted."

After declaring his determination to enforce the emancipation proclamation, he states the terms of peace in the following closing words:

"In stating a single condition of peace, I mean simply to say that the war will cease on the part of the government whenever it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it."
